

American Nations Rule Assembly of League of Nations

GENEVA.—No steam-roller of big nations is going to run roughshod over this world parliament—the Assembly of the League of Nations. And the United States Senate contention that Great Britain and her dominions with six votes would rule the assembly is exploded.

These outstanding conclusions are apparent on the face of developments to date in the first Assembly session. The most sensational development of the meeting so far has been the firm seizure of power by Latin-American vice chairmen.

Significantly, the Chilean heads the committee dealing with the admission of new nations to the league. Chile is regarded as anything but anti-German. And Puyreodon, the Argentine delegate, has already made a powerful speech virtually demanding that all nations be invited into the league.

French Opposition

France bitterly opposes Germany's admission and is actively canvassing the Latin-Americans for support. Failing in all else, the French rely on the fiery eloquence of Viviani. They know a brilliant speech will often sway to bring the Latin-Americans to the French view.

The nations still tend to group according to common language and to racial and economic interests. The British empire with six votes ranks a poor second to the Latins. France relies on the support of Belgium and Poland. The Slavs of Central Europe probably will vote together. The Danes, Norwegians and Swedes held conferences and got Branting of Sweden elected chairman of the committee on mandates and armaments.

It has been a great session for the little nations to date.

And it has been a remarkable session, so far, in the independence and liberality of several ungagged world leaders—three in particular, Lord Robert Cecil, Tittoni and Branting.

Lord Robert has been the greatest single liberalizing influence. This tall, lean, stoop-shouldered Englishman probably exceeds all other delegates in passionate belief in the efficacy of the league. His plan was largely used in the drafting of the covenant at Paris. He was not sent by England, but by South Africa, through the influence of General Smuts, a great liberal and a staunch league supporter.

When attempts were made to gag discussion of the applications of Austria, Bulgaria, Albania and Azerbaijan for membership, Cecil fought the gag and not only won, but forced a ruling that every delegate has the right to propose any question whatever, leaving to the assembly the decision as to whether it shall be taken up.

Under this rule any delegate could propose admission of Germany and Persia could bring up the question of her status with England, which is virtually running the country. The Chinese could bring up Shantung and Manchurian questions without notice and appeal to the assembly for action.

ASQUITH TO PRESENT BILL CONDEMNING THE OUTRAGES IN IRELAND

Resolution Demands Immediate Steps to Bring About Pacification

PLOT AGAINST BRITONS IS CHARGED BY LONDON PAPER

Officials Fail to Find Evidence to Substantiate Rumors

LONDON.—H. H. Asquith, former premier and leader of the opposition in the house of commons, is prepared to move a resolution condemning outrages against crown forces and civilians in Ireland. The resolution he had written expressed abhorrence of the brutal assassination of officers in Dublin last Sunday, condemned the action of the Irish executive department in attempting to suppress crime by methods of terrorism in reprisals involving the lives and property of innocent persons, and declared the urgency of taking immediate steps to bring about the pacification which is demanded in the interests of Ireland and the empire.

Grey Aids in Policy

Viscount Grey is expected to come forth from his semi-retirement and speak in the house of lords on the Irish home rule bill. It has been reported that Viscount Grey and Mr. Asquith have reached an understanding as to policy relative to Ireland and in future will work together.

Suggestions that it was probable Sinn Fein agents would attack prominent persons and property in London and other large cities of England have been current, but nothing substantial has been found to lend color to them. The graphic claimed today that a "high authority" had said the British secret service had discovered a Sinn Fein plot aimed at citizens of London. The newspaper adds the secret service recently discovered a plot to destroy property elsewhere, mentioning the Manchester ship canal and the Liverpool docks.

Angry Citizens of Sheboygan Parade War Trophy to Park Against Orders of Council

SHEBOYGAN, Wis.—Led to the music of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," between 5,000 and 6,000 citizens drew the captured German siege gun from the tool-house where it was consigned by the majority vote of the nine socialist aldermen of the common council, and placed it in the Municipal park here Tuesday night.

The socialist aldermen were forced to watch the procession as it passed the city hall, where they were in session, while the minority aldermen who had voted against the banishment of the relic sent up cheer after cheer.

Headed by former service men carrying a casket labeled "The Nine Votes," the gun drawn by a rope pulled by more than a thousand persons came behind the band. Upon the gun was mounted an effigy of Councilman Henze, which, following the placing of the gun, was burned. Councilman Henze led the council in its action, it is said.

The entire action is said to have been practically spontaneous with the exception of a meeting in the afternoon by the American Legion men.

Incidental to the ceremonies of placing the gun in its new location, as a protest to the socialist aldermen, an address was made by Dr. Charles F. Wheeler, prominent in Salvation Army circles, for which body an overseas war fund was over-subscribed by Sheboygan citizens. Attorney Euchen also spoke.

MRS. BIESEN IS SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS; MAY GO TO WAUPUN PRISON TONIGHT

MRS. HELEN BIESEN today, was sentenced to two years in state's prison by Judge Brindley in county court on a charge of adultery. She probably will be taken to Waupun tonight by the sheriff.

It took just three minutes from the time Mrs. Biesen appeared in the court room, for her to plead, have sentence passed and be on her way back to the county jail. There were no crowds in the courtroom, hallways and entrance of the court house to watch the arraignment as there was when John Beier, the farmhand who confessed to murdering Mrs. Biesen's husband, was brought in for hearing. Only a few persons who were in the courtroom and county offices on business knew that she was to be arraigned and this handful of spectators remained in the doorways of the court.

Mrs. Biesen had pleaded not guilty to the charge of adultery when arraigned at a preliminary hearing several weeks ago. Today she changed her plea to guilty and Judge Brindley sentenced her to two years. In answer to the judge's question as to whether she wished to make any statement, Mrs. Biesen said she did not have anything to say.

"There are no grounds for leniency in this case," said Judge Brindley, "other than that considered by all judges when the defendant pleads. Therefore I sentence you to two years at hard labor in prison at Waupun."

The charge of adultery against John Beier was dismissed today by Judge Higbee last Friday when he confessed in court that he murdered Nick Biesen. Both Beier and Mrs. Biesen were represented by A. H. Schubert of Mahoney and Schubert.

JUDGE REFUSES TO APPEAR BEFORE THE GRAND JURY HERE

Hurley Magistrate Says He is too Busy at Home to Come to La Crosse

COURT OFFICIALS ASTOUNDED OVER MESSAGE FROM UP STATE

Interesting Developments Expected in the Case

Although summoned to appear before the grand jury in La Crosse, Judge Griffith Thomas of Hurley municipal court declares, it is alleged, that he will not come to this city to appear before the United States court tribunal because he "must attend to business at home," according to word reaching court officials here today.

The message from Hurley caused a sensation in court circles here, and officials are speculating as to what steps will be taken to induce the judge of the Hurley municipal court to appear before the grand jury here.

In the absence of United States District Attorney A. C. Wolfe, who went to Superior Tuesday night, there was no one in the federal building in authority to discuss the matter today.

In parallel cases, it was said by government officials today, persons who refused to obey summons have been held before the court on a contempt charge.

If such action is taken in this case, provided Judge Thomas does not appear here on Saturday, the date when he is summoned to testify before the grand jury, he may be arraigned before Judge Landis when the latter comes from Chicago to receive indictments handed down by the jury.

Served by Pugh

The summons to Judge Thomas was served by Deputy United States Marshal Pugh, according to the records in Marshal O'Connor's office here. The judge was instructed to appear here on November 27.

The summons instructed him to "bring with you all liquor, moonshine, mash and stills in your possession to the cases against Angelo Bott, Louis DeLanna, Mrs. Mary De Pra and Mike Smilich." He also was told to bring the criminal docket and complaint and warrant on fire against several other persons including Albina Rigolia.

So far as evidence is concerned, Judge Thomas asserts all of it has been destroyed. P. W. Haas, federal prohibition agent, and Sheriff Mike White taking charge of that work. In some of the cases referred to in the summons, the defendants were dismissed for lack of evidence and others were finally disposed of in court.

Jury Takes Recess

The campaign in this county will be conducted under the auspices of the American Legion.

FATHER OF WIFE STABS CUB HURLER IN KENOSHA HOME

"Hippo" Vaughn is Seriously Wounded in Domestic Altercation at Home

KENOSHA, Wis.—Jim (Hippo) Vaughn, a star pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, was stabbed by his father-in-law at midnight during an argument at the Vaughn home. He is in a serious condition at the city hospital.

The stabbing followed an argument prompted by the divorce proceedings of the Vaughns, the case of Mr. Vaughn having been scheduled for hearing Tuesday.

Mrs. Vaughn's father came from the east to the hearing. He is said to have been angered over charges made by Vaughn that his wife had been friendly with other men.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn effected a reconciliation before the case came up. They agreed to live together again and returned to their home here. Their nine-year old son was with them.

As Vaughn was returning to his home he was met on the street by his father-in-law, Harry DeBolt, and an argument followed. DeBolt, according to the police, slashed at the big pitcher with a razor, cutting through his overcoat and inflicting a wound in the stomach. Vaughn probably will be able to leave the hospital within a few days, it was said later.

After the stabbing DeBolt fled and not been captured. DeBolt has lived in Kenosha with his family for five or six years.

TAXATION WILL BE STORM CENTER OF NEW LEGISLATURE

Problem Made Acute by Demands for Increased Funds from all Departments

INCOME WILL BE LESS SAYS STATE TAX COMMISSIONER

Legislature Will Slash Budgets Deeply is Belief

MADISON, Wis.—The problem of taxation, made acute by demands for increased appropriations from almost every department of the state government, and from the state institutions, will be the storm center of greatest intensity in the coming legislature, according to opinions expressed by officials on every hand here.

Proposed budgets are far outstripping those of previous bienniums. The request of the university for over 15 million dollars, and of the normal schools for five million, amounts that have not been approached previously for these institutions, reflect the general tendency toward increased demands. B. A. Klekhofer, Secretary of the Board of Public Affairs, said:

"These budgets are to be based on a falling market, according to present indications. The opinion is general that the legislature will slash deeply into building plans and requests for salary increases, while it will move cautiously in granting any great increase over appropriations of the last biennium. This situation will result, it is said, because of the feeling that a general decline of prices and a tightening of industry, will soon bring conditions, in a measure, back to normal."

Marked falling off in state income is likely to run along with the increasing demands for money, according to Nils E. Hugen, Chairman of the Tax Commission. Business has shown a very noticeable decline during the latter half of this year which will result in a smaller return from income taxes. Railroads are depreciating in value and will as a consequence pay lower taxes. Property in general is likely to fall in its assessed value, it was said.

The legislature is to be the buffer of two opposing forces, it is pointed out. The law-makers will be asked to meet greatly increased expenses from a rapidly declining revenue. Proposals which are to develop from this situation will form one of the battle grounds of the session, officials generally agree.

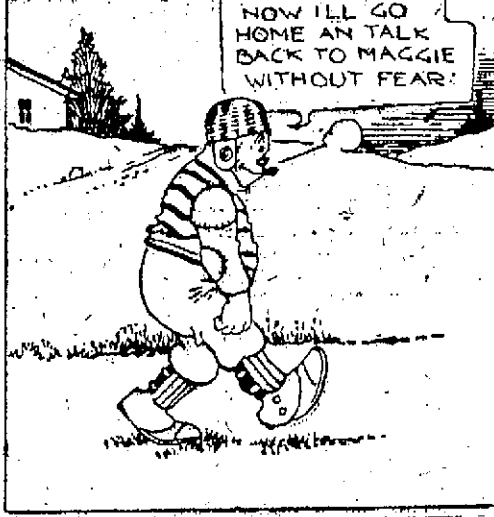

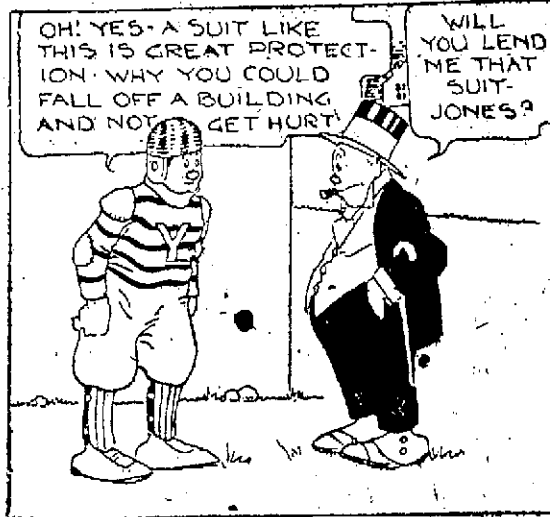

Governor Blaine in his platform, has declared that "taxation should be levied in proportion to the ability to pay." He will recommend, according to his platform, that exemption from income taxes be raised in proportion to the cost of living and that a heavier levy be made upon those higher incomes. The present exemption is $800 for unmarried men and $1200 for married. He further proposes the abolition of the personal property tax offset, which permits income from personal property to be deducted from the income tax, according to the platform.

The Severson bill, introduced by Senator Herman J. Severson of Iowa, in the special session last June, which was defeated, provided for a surtax on large incomes. While this proposal is not in the Blaine, Hall Comings platform, a close follower of the governor says that he approves of it.

The state Tax Commission in its recommendations to the legislature will not propose a higher exemption limit, Mr. Hugen said.

Any radical suggestions for a

change of method for taxation are likely to be defeated in the senate, according to Lawrence C. Whittier, executive secretary to the governor, who says that the upper body is composed largely of the conservative wing of the Republican party. Mr. Whittier was speaker of the assembly during the 1917 session.

A direct general property tax is suggested by both Mr. Hugen of the Tax Commission and Mr. Klekhofer of the Board of Public Affairs, as a possible method of meeting the problem. There has been no general property tax for state purposes during the six year administration of Governor Philip.

All of the proposals will fall on an untried legislature for final determination. It is an unusual situation because of the large number of new members, Mr. Whittier said. Sixty members serving for the first time, will be called on to deal with the complicated problems that will likely arise.

Old members will be back to head most of the committees, it was said, and to direct the movement of business. While it is not possible to say what the temper of the law-making body will be, the opinion is expressed that they will proceed cautiously in money matters because of the present unsettled conditions. It is also declared that a sharp conflict will develop over the proposed budgets and means of financing them.

A TEST OF THE LEAGUE

RESCUE of Armenia from the combined mercies of the unspeakable Turk and the equally unsavory bolshevik is an important affair for civilization, but not less important in some respects is the situation arising at Geneva from the resolution passed by the assembly of the league of nations demanding intervention in behalf of this island of Christianity threatened by the surrounding flood of barbarism. The action of the assembly has brought the league to one of its first major tests, and the result of its action in the next few days may profoundly influence the future character of the league if not indeed determine its actual existence.

Roughly speaking the issue now raised over Armenian intervention involves a test of the strength and purpose of the league with the big powers on one side and the majority of small nations arrayed upon the other. The assembly, which proposes to help Armenia, is the forum of the little nations; the council which has so far ignored the proposal is by the terms of the covenant dominated by "the principal allied and associated powers"—the Big Four. The issue raised by the assembly does not exactly propose a change in the basic charter of the league, but it does involve an enlarged definition of the scope of the assembly which, if the small nations make good their position, will alter the present balance of the organization by increasing the weight of the assembly and thus relatively decreasing the influence of the Big Four.

The proposal for intervention in Armenia may be good or bad, but the question of the right of the assembly to initiate consideration of matters which small nations believe to concern the peace of the world goes to the point of the chief argument of enemies of the league and of American membership. These hold that the league is little more than an engine for guaranteeing to the victors in the world war the spoils of conquest, instead of the machinery for substituting a reign of international law for that of military might, as friends of the league believe. If the league is limited to consideration of those affairs which the council of great powers is willing to have brought up, the case for the enemies of the league is strengthened. If, however, the small powers can vindicate their claim to initiate proposals for action within the sphere of the league's concern with affairs of nations, the friends of the league may well rejoice. For only that law is deserving the name which applies to great and small without distinction, be it international statute or village ordinance.

Friends of the league will await in eager suspense the news from Geneva. It has been their contention that the covenant, despite the arguments urged against it, bore within itself the seeds of the new era which is prayerfully awaited by honest and right-minded men and women everywhere. The opportunity of the first demonstration that their faith was not unfounded is before the league in the Armenian case. Its outcome will establish a precedent freighted with tremendous effect upon the future.

BATTLE ROYAL

SPEAKING of the league of nations, believers in American participation in the business of keeping world peace may find some comfort in the predominance of upholders of "going in" in the first nominations to President-Elect Harding's council of one hundred Americans. Root, Taft, Hughes, Lodge, Hoover, New, Lenroot, mild reservationists and not so mild, every man of them. On the other hand, however, there are Johnson, Borah and Reed—irreconcilables of the deepest incoercibility. Senator Harding has apparently been to the catholic line of his front-porch campaign in their selection. But in that preliminary hewing all the chips fell in one direction, guided by the impulse to "throw the scoundrels out". Now that the donkey-drivers are deposited, however, the ill-subdued difference of opinion between the elephant's mahouts may be expected to crop out, and the president will have to let the chips fall where they may when he narrows down the line of his hewing from the general of campaign promises to the particular of administration performances. Merely as a sporting event it would be worth fancy prices to be able to make a key-hole reservation for the sessions of the council of one hundred Americans in Washington next month.

PASS THE BUDGET BILL

It is all probability the present congress will transact very little real business in its final session, beginning in December. Its divided political complexion, its considerable content of "lame ducks" and its certain expectation of automatic death next March 4 militate against effective work.

But there is one law it should pass—promptly—without palaver or hesitation. This is the budget bill.

Both parties are pledged by their platforms to budget reform. President Wilson has urged it. He regrettably vetoed the bill passed last spring, because it provided that the comptroller-general in charge of accounting and auditing, might be removed only by congress. This he said violated the constitutional provision under which all executive officials are appointed and removed by the president.

The budget bill was amended to meet the president's requirement and again passed the house. It failed of passage in the senate because of an eleventh-hour filibuster, although a clear senate majority favored it.

In substance the bill provides that estimates from all departments of the government shall be reviewed, revised and consolidated by the secretary of the treasury, operating through a budget bureau closely and continuously studying the needs of the various departments.

The budget thus prepared then goes to the president, who may reduce or change it to secure further economy or efficiency. He then submits it to congress, as a definite program for government operations and raising of necessary revenues.

Congress may increase the budget if it wishes, but will be less likely to make changes than at present. The budget will have back of it the strength of careful study, preparation and revision.

Auditing, under the comptroller-general, would be entirely independent of the treasury and all other departments.

The bill by no means presents a perfect system. One is not certain that it safeguards the point at which the appointive power may be used as a weapon to control its estimates. It seems to lack means by which social welfare can be made the controlling influence in the arrival at appropriations. But there is nothing in the constituency of the present congress to encourage the belief that the budget law would be materially improved by delay. And since it is doubtless the best we shall get for some time, and far better than nothing, the dying congress can have no valid excuse for failure to pass it. Prompt action will save a year or two more of continued haphazard, wasteful expenditures. It will also, in considerable measure, mitigate the drab record of the Sixty-sixth congress.

A Real Thanksgiving

BY FREDERICK HART

"I don't see why he didn't write!" said Mrs. Halden pettishly. "Of course I'm glad he's coming home for Thanksgiving, and all that, but he might have given me longer notice. But that's just like Bob—always dropping in like a tornado, with no more than a telegram the day before he comes—and how I'm to get his room ready, I simply don't see! I have the dinner to attend to, and goodness knows it's hard to get things these days without making preparations for another guest. If he'd only written! All he had to do was to sit down a week ago and write."

"Now mother, don't get all worried," pretty Barbara Halden slipped an arm around her mother's ample waist. "I know you're a thousand things to do, and Bob's coming makes it harder—but you just go ahead and manage the dinner, I'll fix his room and everything."

"Bless your heart, dear, run along and get it ready, I'm always glad to see Bob—" Her speech was cut short by the abrupt "oh" of daughter, who danced off up the stairs, followed by her mother's call, "Be sure, and put out the smoking table! You know how Bob likes his pipe!"

"All right, mother dear—I will!" And Barbara sped to the little room under the eaves that had been sacred to Bob Halden since the time, two years ago, when he had first come to their town to practice law and had taken up his residence under Mrs. Halden's hospitable roof.

Since that summer, when he had saved Mrs. Halden's little savings and her home from the clutches of a grasping syndicate of real estate sharks, he had been like a son to the good woman. She had let him do very much as he pleased around the house, and had even hinted on his paying no board, but Bob had insisted on giving her what he termed a ridiculously inadequate sum each month.

When success brought him fame and fortune he had refused to take up other lodgings, claiming that he enjoyed the home cooking and the home associations of the little brown house near the edge of the town more than he could ever like the garish splendors of a hotel or the loneliness of bachelor apartments.

For the past two months, he had been traveling in the West on a big railroad case. His sudden wire, received the day before Thanksgiving, had been the first appraisal of his return that Mrs. Halden had had.

Not only had he arranged her kitchen in preparation for the manufacturing of a dinner that should surpass all of her former efforts in that line, she blessed the change that brought "her boy," as she called Bob, home at the holiday season, while she outwardly feigned great irritation at his unceremonious announcement of his return.

Meanwhile, up in Bob's room, Barbara was busily putting things straight, spring cleaning the linen on the bed, arranging the cover on the dresser, seeing that the smoking table was supplied with matches and trays for Bob's ever-present pipe, and generally making her room fresh and cheerful, the reception of her hero. For Barbara, Bob was a good deal of a hero, though she would hardly have confessed it even to herself.

She attacked the dresser last of all, intending to take out of the drawers any odds and ends that might be in them, then to space the shirts, collars and other articles of masculine apparel.

The big lower drawers were empty, and beyond the great pile of shirts and trousers she did nothing to them; but one of the small top drawers stuck obstinately in the manner of some drawers she had experienced in the hotel roomed remained stubbornly shut. She tried her teeth and pulled violently.

The next moment she was sitting on the floor with the dresser tipped upside down in her lap and a lot of odd-looking papers scattered about.

With a little laugh and a shrug at the awkwardness she expressed in the gathering up the papers, she picked up one scrap, larger than the others, she happened to glance at it and something that was written on the top tipped her attention. With the blood drying her cheeks, she read:

"To Barbara."

Below were some lines of poetry. She read them, and they were not so good, as poems go; in fact, there were spots where the meter halted and staggered, and the rhymes were not above forming a compliment to the girl who read them they were more beautiful than any words of the greatest singers of all time. For there it was, written in the most beautiful of a man for a maid—the love of Bob, her hero, for her—for herself, Barbara Halden!

She read the verses through. Then, with the blood drying her cheeks, she hastily thrust the paper into the bosom of her dress. Bob—Bob loved her! He had never spoken to her the very words she had just read! She knew it now—she had loved him ever since he had come to the house. Her heart sang a psalm of thanksgiving that at last she knew that love was coming in on the evening train.

DREAM HOMES PLANNED BY MISSES IN SCHOOL

A dream home is planned and worked out as a study problem in Flower Technical High School, Chicago.

PARTY STUNTS

Whether or not you are going to have a Thanksgiving party, remember that the day is a party for the whole family. The table should be full, but it should look pretty, too.

Candy Pumpkins

Wrap some sugar almonds in tissue paper and then bunch them in cotton batting so that this package of sweets is pumpkin shape. Cover the whole with orange crepe paper, winding it at the top with green sewing silk to make the pumpkin stem. Cut a leaf from green crepe paper and paste it near the stem. Stand one at each guest's place.

A Thanksgiving Indian

His body is a fig and his head is a prune fastened to the fig with a toothpick. His legs and arms are made of raisins on toothpicks thrust into his body. Fringe a bit of bright crepe paper to make a feather that you stick in his head with a pin. His face is carved in the wrinkled prune with a sharp pen knife.

The Pilgrim Pale-Face

This Pilgrim may stand beside the Indian at each Thanksgiving place. His head is a marshmallow fastened by a toothpick to two or three other marshmallows that make his body. Pop some corn and string the kernels on fine wire to make his arms and legs. Drops of melted chocolate will do for his features. Make him a tall hat and a long cape of black crepe paper.

read human faces and learn the thoughts beneath the mask, and the first words that Bob said as he sat along with Barbara in Mrs. Halden's tiny living room were:

"How did you know?"

"I—oh, Bob, forgive me!" Barbara was almost in tears.

His arm around her shoulders assured her of his forgiveness.

And then, with averted eyes, Barbara repeated a few lines of the verses she had read. A few only, for Bob's lips on hers stopped her before she had gotten farther than the first "I love you."

"I knew I'd left those foolish verses behind," said Bob after a time. "But I never dreamed you'd find them."

"It was an accident," replied Barbara, happily. "But oh, Bob dear, I'm so glad it happened!"

And Mrs. Halden, coming in to wish them good night and a happy Thanksgiving, said, when she had recovered from her surprise, that she was glad, too.

Public Debate

STATE PAID BANDS

November 23, 1920.

Editor Tribune: On my return to the city today I noticed especially the items on "Good School Week," from numerous citizens. Can say I agree with them with one exception.

It seems when most people talk of education they seem to think first of arithmetic, grammar and spelling, then when they think of more education they think of algebra, and the foreign languages, seemingly forgetting one language which in my opinion is the most essential and more universally used to bring happiness to mankind than any other, and that language is MUSIC.

I would like to suggest to the school board that bills be introduced into the legislature which will provide for a small levy tax, which shall be levied for by the people to support their bands legally, the proposition as planned to be entirely optional with the voters.

Other states have made such provisions by enacting laws covering this question and Iowa will enact this winter to enact such legislation. There is little reason why Wisconsin should not do likewise. Such a law would mean much to all musicians and particularly to our educational welfare in general.

Why should a few public spirited citizens support the musical organizations which are so essential to a community as public schools?

During the past summer we have had a few concerts and the attendance was proof that music is a most needed thing. What we want and need is more of it, not only in summer but winter as well. What would be more enjoyable than a fine standing rink with a large band playing?

Our state is known as a progressive one. Let's forget our individual interests and every one get behind this movement and show the country that La Crosse is a progressive city in the most progressive state in the union. Yours for more and better musical conditions.

stances of life and habits, the seeing of foreign countries and costumes, the different ways of doing business and of social customs. People of the United States will send their children to school for an average of twelve years and there that is as it should be but after schooling in the regular schools "where they learn practically all theory and no practical work" why not send them to the navy where along with the theory, they obtain the practical part of their chosen line and career?

Along with this they receive instruction in foreign countries social customs, but ordinary person can only read about it. In addition to all this they are well cared for physically and all that a doubter has to do is to compare them with any other class of people and he will be convinced, and all this for the very best of

BLAINE AND FAMILY TO OCCUPY EXECUTIVE MANSION AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis.—Governor John J. Blaine will occupy the executive residence which is furnished by the state. During Governor Philipp's administration the residence has not been occupied by the governor's family and for six years there have been no important functions held at the executive mansion. Announcement is made, however, that Governor and Mrs. Blaine will occupy the mansion and will move into it on January 2, pending the occupancy of the mansion by Governor-elect and Mrs. Blaine repairs are being made. The governor's mansion is one of the oldest buildings in Madison. When Governor Blaine is inaugurated, he will be the second governor which has come from Grant County, in the entire history of the state. Governor Blaine will be the 24th man who has served as chief executive of Wisconsin during the history of the state.

"Index Numbers"

The "index number" is a well-established device commonly used for measuring changes in wholesale and retail prices and rates of wages over long periods of time. It is constructed by securing each month the prices or rates of a uniform list, at certain specified places, and striking an average. Such numbers are usually reduced to percentages. The lowest price known is sometimes taken as a base, or as in case of investment stocks, 100 is used.—Merrill Herald.

JESSIE MAE EDDY IS UNITED IN MARRIAGE TO WILLIAM BRENNAN

THIS MORNING at seven o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church Rev. Robert B. Condon united in marriage Miss Jessie Mae Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Eddy, this city, and Mr. William Brennan of Dubuque. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Brennan, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Miss Mary Condy as bridesmaid. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. John Eddy of Milwaukee, brother of the bride, and Mr. Donald Murphy, cousin of the bride. The ceremony was celebrated at high mass, Ave Marie being sung by the choir. The bride party advanced to the strains of a wedding march. The double ring service was used.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 1731 Madison street, which was attended by only relatives and near friends. Pink and apple green were daintily carried out as a color scheme, pink carnations and white pom poms in a large cut glass vase centering the serving table. At either end were holders containing pink tapers, which completed a handsome table. The bride was charming in her gown of white tulle with a train, with which she wore a blouse of beaded lace and an oriental hat and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations. Miss Brennan and Miss Condy wore suits with hats to match, and carried bouquets of red and white carnations. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Brennan left on an early train for an extended honeymoon and on their return will be at home at 2323 cooler avenue, Dubuque, after December 15.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Brennan, parents of the bridegroom, and Sister Elizabeth of New Albin, Mr. John Eddy of Milwaukee, brother of the bride, and Mr. Donald Murphy of Caledonia.

AT THE PARSONAGE of Rev. Father Murphy, pastor St. James church, Nov. 20, took place the marriage of Miss Hannah Marie McCreary, daughter of John McCreary of this city, and Mr. Morris Elliott Knudson, son of Otto Knudson, near Barrie. The couple was attended by Miss Evelyn Knudson, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. William McCreary, brother of the bride. Rev. Father Murphy officiated. Following the ceremony a delicious wedding supper was served at the home of the bridegroom's father. The table decorations were featured in pink and white carnations. The bride wore a blue suit gown. The guests were the Misses Wanda Knudson, Lucile Crawford, Evelyn Knudson, Messrs. George Ruge, Harry Thompson and William McCreary. The bride is a graduate of the Waulen Parochial school.

THE MEMBERS of the booster band of the Rescue Mission were entertained at the home of Master Reinhard Emery, 516 South Fifth street, Monday night. The evening was spent with games and music, after which a fine lunch was served. Those present were Messrs. Oscar Shamrock, Rodger Westover, Lester Anderson, Edward Subek, Clarence and Bob Campbell, Reinhard and Edgar Emery, Harold, Glen and Chester Dewey.

AT THE MID-WEEK meeting tonight at the First Methodist church, a Thanksgiving program will be given. An address will be given on "Sixteen-twenty to Nineteen-twenty," inclusive of events of interest covering a period of four hundred years. The evening will also be featured by special music and Miss Freda Beckhausen will give one of her pleasing readings. Every one has something for which to be thankful, and it is hoped that all members of the congregation will be present to sing praises to the Most High God.

MEMBERS and friends of the Salzer Memorial chapter of the Epworth League will partake of breakfast in the church parlors, Seventh and Perry streets, Thanksgiving morning at 8:30 o'clock. Following the breakfast Miss Alice Orwin will lead a short family devotion. Five minutes talks have been arranged and a short service of prayer. All are invited to join in this early morning family praise and thanksgiving.

THE Y. W. C. A. will hold open house from three to six o'clock on Thanksgiving, and the hospitality of the association is extended to all girls to make the day more festive. It is a pleasant place to spend the afternoon and evening.

THE MEN'S LEAGUE of the Bethel Lutheran church, corner of Chase and 5th streets, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow night and will be entertained by P. A. Smith. A special Thanksgiving program will be rendered including a lecture by J. H. Johnson. Also vocal and instrumental music.

MR. AND MRS. R. Stauffer and son, Romeo and Alex Paloracki will spend Thanksgiving at Caledonia with relatives.

A PLEASANT evening was spent at the home of Mrs. B. E. Brinkman, 1511 South Eleventh street, when a party of friends pleasantly surprised the important hostess. A dinner of turkey was served from baskets brought by the guests. In the group were Messrs. Paul, Brinkman, Albert Newburg, Edgar Meyer, Owen Reed, Leonard Paul, R. O. Hooge, Herbert Chiel, Mr. Brinkman and Ruth Mae Brinkman. The hostess was presented with several pieces of cut glass.

"BUDDIES" COMING

On Tuesday, November 30, the Selwyns will give this city its first opportunity to see "Buddies" at the La Crosse theater, where this singularly human and humorous comedy of amateur Brittany by George V. Hobart with its quotables of lovely music by B. C. Williams, will be the attraction.

Since its opening in New York more than a year ago "Buddies" has broken all records for box office receipts at the Selwyn theater where its engagement was finally concluded in order that contracts for its tour might be filled.

The scene of "Buddies" is that of sunny France. The act on takes place in the humble home of a peasant maid where a group of American boys are billeted, preliminary to their return to American soil. In this picturesque setting Mr. Hobart unfolds a romance as fragrant as the Springtime, while Mr. William Furey shows a musical interpretation of the story which requires in every city where "Buddies" is played, an especially augmented orchestra.

Now that the whole bent when the apparent love story and lulling music have been "muffled" for the reading of the delightful comedy is a vein of keen wit which keeps an audience tittering with laughter from curtain to curtain.

In the picturesque scenic investment of "Buddies" the Selwyns have achieved the most artistic results of their brilliant career as producers, while for the interpretation of both romance and music they will offer here the same incomparable company of players which did so much to make the long New York engagement such a sensational success, the cast including: Denman Maye, Olive Reeves-Smith, Joseph Herbert, Jr., and Ignacio Martignetti.

HE COULD GET ONLY ONE FARE FROM HER

NEW YORK.—Miss Dorothy Rema "of Iowa" claims to be the champion "long ride for the smallest price" passenger in the world. She became so interested listening to subway passengers that she rode back and forth six times for one nickel and then fell asleep. A guard finally awakened her and tried without luck to collect fares for the number of rides she had.

A Better Way

The sergeant-major was a bit of a martinet—it does happen sometimes—and was constantly finding fault with the slightest things.

One day, as he sat in his room in the barracks, he saw a private pass in full uniform with a buener.

This roused the sergeant-major to a fury, and he promptly dashed to the door and hailed the private.

"Where are you going?"

"To fetch some water, sir," replied the man.

"What!" yelled the sergeant-major. "In those trousers?"

Failure to Enroll Necessary Number Given as Reason for the Delay

The swimming classes of the Y. W. C. A., scheduled for Wednesday evening, have been postponed until a future date. It was announced Wednesday morning at the association. MY BUDDIES

One of the Song Hits from "BUDDIES"
The Successful Musical Play

Words and Music by B.C. Hilliam
Published by Special Arrangement with M. Witmark & Sons, N.Y.

Tempo di Marcia

There's a queer lit-tle song called "It-a-lic" With words we can't pro-nounce, Why both-er our beans o-ver-what a song means. When it's on-ly the tune that counts? We all have sweet-hearts far a-way, And ev-'ry day we hear 'em say, "Oh, My Buddies" tell me where my Bud-die is, my Bud-die is, my Bud-die is, My beau it's un-der- stood he is, But I don't just know how good he is! Well tell you where your Bud-die is, your Bud-die is, your Bud-die is, Where the soil of Franco most mud-dy is, You'll find your wan-d'ring boy, 'd'ring boy, 'd'ring boy! You'll find your wan-d'ring boy! "Oh, boy!"

FIVE ARE REPORTED KILLED BY BOILER BLAST IN STOUGHTON

Condensary Plant Wrecked and Bodies of Slain Blown Block Away

MADISON, Wis.—First reports of a boiler explosion at Stoughton stated that Bennett Martin, Cooksville farmer; G. E. Ferguson, Wauwatosa insurance man, and Mr. George Stoughton, were instantly killed. Their bodies were blown about a block away and horribly mutilated.

The explosion occurred in the condensary plant of the Stoughton Manufacturing company.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO CONFORM WITH ASSEMBLY DEMAND

The assembly, some proposed amendments were brought up again by the Swiss delegation. The delegation will ask the committee on general organization to consider a proposition to choose the four elective members of the council from among different states successively, with only one term expiring each year. The Swiss representatives, with the support of Scandinavian delegates will also ask the same committee to report a proposition for fixed meetings of the assembly.

May Hear German Protest
Germany's protest against the method adopted by the league of nations in awarding mandates over former German colonies was expected to come before today's session of the assembly of the league of nations.

MAY ASK U. S. TO OCCUPY ARMENIA

LONDON.—The United States may be asked to occupy Armenia, the league of nations defraying the cost, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch.

Such plans might be considered in order to avoid friction among European powers, it was said.

Delegate Milton of Australia, yesterday introduced a resolution, that the protest be laid before the assembly before being referred to a committee, and a discussion was decided upon.

Lithuania to take part in keeping order there during the plebiscite.

New nations formed from parts of the former Russian empire will not be admitted to the league, for the present at least.

Bulgaria, Austria, Albania, Luxembourg and Finland, however, may become members at once, although Montenegro, which has applied for membership, may be forced to wait for some time before being accorded a place.

In connection with the application of Montenegro for admission into the league of nations it may be borne in mind that the Montenegrin parliament late in 1918 declared for the merging of Montenegro with the Kingdom of Serbia, Croatia and Slovenia, usually known as Jug-Slavia. King Nicholas of Montenegro refused to recognize the act, and claims have been made by Montenegrin representatives that the people were being subjected to Serbian domination, these statements meeting emphatic denial by the Serbians. The Montenegrin so-called government has existed since the war only at Njuzilly, a suburb of Paris, where King Nicholas has made his headquarters.

Expect U. S. to Join
Antonio Muncus, chief of the Children's representatives and chairman of the committee on admission of new states, told the Associated Press last night he has the best of impressions regarding progress of the assembly, and expressed confidence that the result of the meeting will be fruitful.

His committee is at work and will report as early as possible after considering applications with the greatest impartiality, he said. Senator Muncus declared he expected the attitude of the United States toward the league would be defined soon after the new senate meets, and he thinks the decision will be to come into the league rather than "frustrate the greatest effort humanity has ever made to assure its own preservation."

McCormick Goes to Europe
PARIS.—United States Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, who sailed yesterday from New York for Europe, is crossing the Atlantic to lay Senator Harding's personal views on the league of nations before governmental chiefs, says a report from Geneva to the Echo de Paris.

The dispatch states that the object of Senator McCormick's trip to Europe was discussed by delegates to the assembly of the league of nations at Geneva yesterday.

SAYS STEEL IS MONOPOLIZED

Three-fourths Controlled by Three Firms That Set Price Says Jobber

NEW YORK.—"Testimony that three-fourths of the wrought steel industry in America is controlled by three powerful corporations with prices 'usually absolutely uniform,' was given in the 'building trust' inquiry here by John G. Cornell, Jr., a jobber and exporter.

The wrought iron industry is similarly in the hands of two firms, Cornell said, and this business is practically paralyzed just now owing to a strike in one of their plants.

7 MILLION BONUS IS PREPARED FOR FORD'S EMPLOYEES

Will Also Get 14 Percent on Their Investment Holdings in Company

DETROIT, Mich.—Bonus checks aggregating more than $7,000,000 for employees of the Ford motor company are now being written and their distribution will start January 1 next, according to announcement Wednesday by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company.

Mr. Ford announced a forthcoming extra-three percent for the six months ending December 31, on Ford investment certificates held by employees of the company. This, Mr. Ford said, is in addition to the guaranteed six percent. He added that eight percent had been paid July 31 last, making a total of 14 percent on the certificates for 1920.

Mr. Ford's statement was made, it was announced, to correct what he said was an erroneous report of testimony by S. S. Marquis, director of the Ford Educational Department, before Judge Alschuler at Chicago, yesterday that the recent reductions in the price of Ford cars had resulted in the bonus to employees being practically cut off.

The statement that 6,000 men of the Detroit force had quit work within the last ninety days was correct, it was said at the executive offices of the company here, but the men had left voluntarily, and increased production of the remaining employees had made it unnecessary to replace them.

TO END GREEK CENSORSHIP

Rhailis Tells Correspondents Venizelist Bars Will Be Dropped

ATHENS.—By The Associated Press.—Foreign newspaper correspondents went before Demetrios Gounaris, minister of war, and George Rhailis, premier, today, and complained that the press censorship established during the Venizelist regime was being continued.

The two officials answered that during insurrections on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, bullets cut wire systems and that this was responsible for any delay. They declared that any censorship in operation was due to some correspondents having misrepresented last week's demonstrations by saying they were in favor of the former German emperor. This was declared to be untrue. The two ministers, however, promised to remove all censorship restrictions.

RUSSIAN REDS SEND PAIR TO CAPITALIZE UNEMPLOYMENT IN U. S. COMING WINTER

WASHINGTON.—Russian soviet authorities estimate that the unemployed in this country will number 5,000,000 by the end of the year and two representatives of the Third Internationale have been sent to organize soviets here, according to official advices from Moscow.

The representatives of the Third Internationale plan to arrive in the United States in December, it was said. Their mission, advices stated, is to unite the revolutionary movement in America into one fighting body to bring about an armed revolution. Government officials said every precaution is being taken to keep the soviet organizers from entering the United States.

GO TO JAIL RATHER THAN YIELD BARRETT URGES THE FARMERS

Federal Agents Seeking Evidence on Crop Holding Says Farm Union Head

WASHINGTON.—Declaring he understood that "federal agents are already going over Kansas, Iowa, and other states trying to get evidence necessary to the indictment of men who are asking farmers to hold their crops," Charles S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union, through a statement issued Tuesday, appealed to members of his organization to stand together and not to sell their product at "present ruinously low prices."

"Show that you have the moral courage to go to jail, if necessary," Mr. Barrett advised members of the farmers' union. "The word seems to have been passed around that farmers are to be taught a lesson—they were getting troublesome."

The farmers' answer to claims of over-production, Mr. Barrett said, should be: "We will simply lessen production." This was "no idle threat," he said, adding: "From every part of the country comes the promise that the policy should be adopted to nullify the contrary wakes up to the fact that it must either go on short rations or pay you wages high enough to live on."

MILLION AND HALF DEFICIT CONFRONTS REPUBLICAN PARTY

CHICAGO, Ill.—The deficit incurred in the republican campaign to elect Senator Warren G. Harding to the presidency was approximately $1,500,000, Fred W. Upham, national treasurer, announced in a statement designed to clear up a misunderstanding of his report, filed at Washington Tuesday.

Washington dispatches fixing the committee's deficit at only $89,428.95 were based on the fact that nearly $1,400,000 in loans, which must be paid back, had been added to the total receipts, he said.

From July 1 to the end of the campaign expenditures totaled $3,486,468.80, Mr. Upham said. During the same period subscriptions brought in $2,145,970.13, leaving a deficit of $1,340,498.67. To this deficit must be added approximately $200,000 spent between June 14, the Monday after Senator Harding's nomination, by the national convention, and July 1, when the campaign books were opened.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Riviera—"Nomads of the North" by James Oliver Curwood.
Majestic—Ethel Clayton in "A Lady in Love."
Riviera—Tom Moore in "The Great Accident."
Bijou—Wallace Reid in "Sick Abed."
Casino—Nazimova in "The Heart of a Child."
Strand—Will Rogers in "Cupid, the Cowpuncher."

RIVIERA
 "Nomads of the North," a photo-drama described as "extraordinary" from the pen of James Oliver Curwood, an author who won undying fame for his "Back to God's Country" and "The River's End." This third product of the Curwood-Kingpin production company, a fund of natural history is being presented by the Associated First National as also were the other two efforts. This title tells a great deal about the nature of the story of "Nomads of the North" and it has to do with an intense love affair which wanders through many nooks and corners seldom called upon to tell its tale. The great piece of resistance is the persistent effort of an iron-willed "king-pin" of a trading-post to impose his will to the extent of forcing a girl whose father is in his debt to marry his pampered and vicious son. But the girl loves a simple-minded, honest, sturdy trader who got so far away from her that it required three years to make the return trip and he arrived just in the nick of time, for she was about to be forced against her own will to become the wife of the man she genuinely hated. The reappearance of the real lover on the scene starts exciting events which end in a happy ending. The picture is a triumph and happiness crown the protracted efforts of the couple to combat a wide variety of serious obstacles.

 This attraction will be at the Riviera for the balance of the week. To complete the program the management has booked "Torchy" Sullivan, a comedy starring Johanna Hines and "Topics of the Day."

MAJESTIC
 There is a human appeal about the stories that Ethel Clayton has been getting lately that registers instantly with an audience and holds the interest of everyone throughout. She is currently playing "The Whirlwind" and "Young Mrs. Winthrop" that lavish settings and costumes are not always requisites for a good motion picture. "A Lady in Love," in which she was well received at the Majestic theater concerns the impression.

Here is a homely little story of an innocent convent girl's marriage with a man whom she hardly knew and who later turned out to be a con man with another wife and a child living. Then came a real Prince Charming in the form of a manly young lawyer, who, at her guardian's request, was taking pains to free her legally from the distasteful union. And, of course, the young "wife" was obliged to deny until such time as an extremely dramatic series of developments intervened to prove her married out of the law and hence free her to follow her heart's desire.

In the hands of a less expert and appealing player than Miss Clayton, "A Lady in Love" would not become a noteworthy picture. There is a sincerity and skillful restraint about her performance that endears her to the audience. Her portrayal of heart strings, Harison Ford is again admirable as leading man, and Boyd Irwin, Elsa Lornier and C. H. Goddard are in the excellent supporting company. Walter Edwards directed the picture, which was adapted by Alice Byron from a stage play.

CASINO
 In "The Heart of a Child," a special production adapted from Frank Danby's novel of the same name, Nazimova comes to the screen of the Casino theater in a role that is different from any of the wide variety of characters she has portrayed so marvelously in previous triumphs.

It is that of Sally Snape, an English girl from the slum streets of London who finds herself orphaned at the most critical period of her life, and left to face alone, without any other aid than her unsophisticated, the struggle of maintaining the world's respect.

In her support is an exceptionally able cast, with Charles Bryant, adapter of the novel to the screen, as Lord Adamant, Victor Potel, Eugene Klum, Claire Du Puy, Jane Sterling, John Stepping, William J. Irving and Myrtle Eichel. Ray C. Smallwood directed the production, with Rudolph J. Bergquist in charge of the camera. The effectiveness of the pictorial element in the play is due in great measure to the special art effects by Allen Ruff.

BIJOU
 There is never an idle or sad moment in Wallace Reid's new screen farce, "Sick Abed," which is the feature attraction at the Bijou today and Thursday.

The story is frankly for entertainment purposes only. That it succeeded in his efforts to amuse were attested by the sales of laughter with which it was greeted by last night's audience. Wallace Reid has the role of Reginald Jay, the young friend of John Weems, a business man. The latter gets into difficulties through being caught out in a rainstorm with a pretty lady customer and seeking shelter in a rather notorious roadhouse. Mrs. Weems brings suit for divorce, and Reginald is the star witness against Weems.

To avoid appearing in court and incriminating his pal, Reginald feigns illness. When two quick doctors, one real one, a very pretty day nurse and a night nurse who snores, and young Mrs. Weems all arrive in the sick room at once, complications and rapid fire fun ensue.

Bebe Daniels is delectable as the nurse, and Winifred Greenwood and John Stepping are also adept farceurs. The picture was adapted by Clara Kennedy from the popular stage farce.

 "Wint" Chase was a good-for-nothing. Everybody admitted it. There wasn't a soul in Hardiston who'd give thirty cents for Wint's chances of soaring into heaven.
 He drank, smoked, and, horrors!—played pool with the loafers on the corner.
 But suddenly—when things looked blackest for Wint—the great accident happened! Like a bolt from a clear sky it leaped on Wint. If you like to be surprised, to be thrilled, to be made to throw back your head and laugh like a kid—then go and see Tom Moore in this peach of a picture.
 "The Great Accident," starring Tom Moore will be the feature attraction at the Riviera today. "A Fresh Start," a Chester comedy starring Jimmie Adams will complete the program.

Navy Relies On Varied Attack To Beat Army

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—With a spirit and enthusiasm which could not be checked by rain and soft fields, the Naval academy squad started the final week of preparation for the Army game Saturday.

Most of the time was devoted to perfecting special plays, and more than the usual precautions were taken to insure that only friendly eyes saw the practice.

Coach Bob Folwell will carry a Mid-West team to New York which is thoroughly equipped with every style of attack.

BADGER FOOTBALL CAPTAIN IS GREAT ALL-ROUND STAR

Guy Sundt Makes Stellar Showing in Track and Field Events

MADISON, Wis.—Guy Sundt, who has been chosen as captain of next year's university football eleven, is one of the greatest all-around athletes that has ever worn a Cardinal letter that has ever worn a Cardinal letter that has ever worn a Cardinal letter.

Sundt started his football career at the university in the 1918 aggregation. He played such a stellar game that he was elected captain of the 1919 eleven. With the return of Chuck Carpenter to school, however, Sundt generously gave up the honor to the all-conference center.

The election of Sundt this year was the only logical step his teammates could take. Not only had he been elected captain once, but the fullback played one of the most consistent games of the members of the Wisconsin backfield and is classed as one of the three best fullbacks in the west. In addition, he shares honors as the leading punter in the big ten.

Sundt has been handling the weights in track and field competition. Last year he sprinted in the Illinois dual meet here and although the Suckers were conceded supremacy in the weight events, Sundt came through with better marks in the shot and javelin than he had ever made before in his career and won the meet for Wisconsin by a slight margin.

Sundt's work in coming through in the punches of big athletic events has characterized his athletic career at Wisconsin.

My Adventures in the Midnight Frolic!

Edith May in a street hat she bought in New York and (above) Edith and her brother at the iron pump outside her home back in Monroe, Wis.

By Edith May

THE APPEAL

When I told Friend Lady how miserable I was in the "Follies" dressing room with all those sophisticated chorus girls sneering at me she advised me in two words: "Be friendly."

"But I can't be," I said. "I couldn't behave as they do, and I wouldn't if I could."

"You don't have to," she said. "Those girls were just like you—once. They're a good deal like you now."

underneath all that hard carelessness. But you have to be friendly with such girls. Be frank with them and they'll be nice to you. Appeal to them as one human being to another, and you'll find them generous and kindhearted. Try it."

Then came a vision of the folks at home—the little house on Merchant street, with Mother and Dad sitting together on the porch and Harold rattling the water bucket and the pump-handle in the yard. A longing to do something for them came over me.

After That They Were "Perfectly Dear"

That night Cousin Edna sent me out of the dressing room for a few minutes. She said she was going to act on Friend Lady's advice. I don't know exactly what she said to the girls, but when I came in, they were perfectly dear! It was magical.

"Hello, kid," they greeted me. Then everyone talked at once.

"So you won the beauty contest! Gee, what luck!"

"Tell us how it all happened!"

"How long you gonna work in the Follies?"

"Where's your home, kiddie?"

"Take a bunch of these chocolates—aw, go on, take a lot!"

"Lemme show you how to put that mascara on your eyes."

"My word, sister, you've sure got swell hair!"

"Never been on the stage before? Gosh, you poor 'll kiddie! Say, kids, we'll have to be nice to her, yer?"

"We thought you was upstage. But you're all right. I'll tell the world!"

"And another—'Sure' she's all right! I know she was all right when she first come—with her kimono like it was glued on her!"

"I'll show her how to do her lips—that's the stuff. Wow!—but she's got a million dollar smile!"

And so it went. Everybody was nice to me and I had no more trouble and tears. One girl told me something I'll always remember.

"If you want to earn a living in this business," she said, "you can do it. I don't care what anyone says. If you got the looks and the figure and ain't afraid to work hard, you can make from $50 to $125 a week. Cut the Johnnies and the jazz and save your money. I been at this game four seasons—always in the Follies, and I know what I'm talking about. A girl don't have to go to the dogs."

Always Make Money for the Manager

I was standing in the wings the second night when one of the stars of the show patted my shoulder and smiled in the friendliest way.

"I started this way, too," she said. "I determined at the very beginning that I was going to make money for the manager—get me? That's the whole secret of success. Be better than the rest. No manager will risk losing you if you know your business and add to the box office receipts. Remember that. You've got the looks. All you have to do now is make up your mind what you want to do—and do it better than anyone else."

Anyhow—I'm learning things!

UNIVERSITY "P. A." RESIGNS TO TAKE PLACE WITH MILLS

Labisky Quits After Five Years Service-With University of Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. — A. H. Labisky has resigned as purchasing agent at the University of Wisconsin. His position has been temporarily filled by F. X. Ritter, formerly connected with the college of agriculture. Examination for this position will be held on December 4th.

Due to the extensive growth of the Northern Paper Mills at Green Bay it has become necessary to establish a purchasing department and to install a system that will furnish a complete record of every purchase made, according to announcement, Mr. Labisky, who has had wide experience in that line, is the new purchasing agent and will have complete charge of the department.

Mr. Labisky has been purchasing agent for the University of Wisconsin, which he claims is the most progressive university in the world, for the last five years. Few people realize, he said, how many different commodities are used to carry on the work of a large university. More than 12,000 purchase orders are issued per year going to more than 2,000 firms, located in every state in the union and Canada and Europe.

Previous to going with the university, Mr. Labisky was purchasing agent for the Gemco manufacturing company of Milwaukee, which company has the distinction of being the largest exclusive manufacturer of automobile accessories in the United States. Previous to that he was connected with the Bouvris company, manufacturers of steam shovels.

Mr. Labisky already has his purchasing system in operation and it is said to be a great improvement over the old one.

DECLARE TEACHERS' FUND SHOULD BE A 50-50 PROPOSITION

Teachers and State Should Contribute Equally to Retirement Fund Testimony Shows

KUCKUK IS BUSY ON REPORT TO THE NEW LEGISLATURE

Hearings Held at Five Cities in Wisconsin

MADISON Wis.—That the Wisconsin Teachers' Retirement Fund should be put on a sound financial basis with the state and the teachers contributing equally to the retirement annuity and with all payments and interest returnable to the teacher on withdrawal and that the teachers could contribute as much as 5 percent on their salaries for this purpose is the way Superintendent W. N. Maciver of Oshkosh, and Miss Elizabeth Herefurth, of Madison, summarized the testimony of the past week before the Legislative Committee, consisting of Senators Anton Kuckuk, Chairman, and George E. Sogomo, and Assemblymen Riley S. Young, Speaker, R. M. Hanson, and John T. Williams.

Superintendent Maciver and Miss Herefurth today gave out the following statement:

"The hearings by a committee appointed by the last legislature to investigate the condition of the Teachers' Insurance and Retirement Fund, in Superior, Oshkosh, Eau Claire, Milwaukee and Madison, were largely attended by teachers and citizens interested in education. The evidence showed that the maintenance of an adequate teachers insurance and retirement fund is now a settled state policy and that all parties strongly desired the maintenance of the fund and that it should be put upon a sound financial basis. The teachers generally signified a willingness to increase their contributions materially, even to the extent of 5 percent of their salaries to accomplish this purpose, provided, of course, that the state should make a contribution practically equal to that of the teachers and also that in case of teachers withdrawing before they became eligible to receive the annuity they should receive back their contribution with interest. It is, however, expected that a contribution of percent will provide a considerably larger annuity than that provided in the present law. As members of the committee appointed by the Wisconsin State Teachers' Association we were present at all the hearings and we are convinced that the Investigating Committee is approaching the problem in an entirely open-minded manner, that present annuitants may be assured that they will be fully taken care of and that, an adequate and sound fund will be established with suitable contributions on the part of the teacher and the state."

Chairman Kuckuk of the Legislative Committee stated that all so requesting had been heard and that a large number of letters and petitions had been received by the committee and that these and the testimony were now being analyzed in the preparation of the report and recommendation of the committee.

Winter or Summer A Garage Pays

Perhaps you don't expect advice about your car from lumbermen, and maybe our advice on the best spark plug to use would not amount to much BUT—

We have heard plenty of people who have tried keeping the car "any old place," and finally built a garage, do a lot of talking.

The sum of everything they say: "Build a garage—it pays double."

We'll just add: Read the "Old Faithful" HEMLOCK garage books. They're free. Just write, and please mention lumber dealer's name.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

TWO IN ONE

For the middle-aged or elderly person who requires one pair of glasses for reading and another pair for out-of-door use. We recommend our invisible Bifocal or double vision glasses.

They are really two pair of glasses in one. Two lenses fused together without any visible joining. There is no prominent seam or joint to tell the public you are getting along in years. With our invisible Bifocals even your closest friends cannot detect that you are wearing double vision glasses. Call and see them.
